

One idea, One hundred benefit

Voix offers one simple, clear conception: it is a service created for small businesses, but it can be expanded to meet the requirements of a multinational. So far, this leading technological platform has been used only by big corporations, but today it is finally available to small and medium businesses as well.

The benefits are many – flexibility, maximum customization, redirection of calls on the internet with resulting reduction in expenses, software supplementing, conferencing and videoconferencing: all these facilities are usually sold separately by traditional telephony systems, and at prohibitive prices.

Voix, instead, evolves together with technology. Our hardware and software systems are constantly updated, thus providing our customers with cutting edge solutions, always adjusting to their changing needs.

And if that wasn't enough, VOIX is offered in a simple and favourable hire formula which eliminates leasing trouble, does not weigh on yielders, is 100% tax deductible and entitles you to obtain updates, technical assistance and new functionalities at no additional cost.
